BARONESS The Baroness Archive 1995-2017

Extent: 2 Boxes and oversize items

Administrative/Biographical History: The Baroness who first started in the industry 30 years ago, played a huge and seminal role introducing latex to a wider audience. After receiving an ill-fitting latex dress that didn't reflect her own style, she set out to rethink and reimagine latex and from there, her retail concept was born.

The Baroness was for a long time one of only three latex designers working in America. Working from her home studio, she first sold her wardrobe pieces at events and to private clients, growing her considerable wholesale reputation. In 1995 The Baroness launched her website, then nine years later opened her combination boutique and latex atelier in New York City.

Through the years, The Baroness' clients have included Lady Gaga, the Victoria's Secret fashion show, and Madonna, to name but a few. And through her lectures and writings, the lady has consistently pushed latex couture into the mainstream.

She also hosted the infamous monthly party called The Fetish Retinue, and many other fetish events and parties.

The Baroness is closing her store at the end of July 2021 to fulfill her lifetime dream of living in Paris.

Custodial History: Deposited with Bishopsgate Institute by The Baroness, January 2021.

Scope and Content: Archive of latex and fetish fashion designer The Baroness, including flyers, photographs, cuttings and other materials from her many club nights including Fetish Retinue, the Kinky Costume Ball, Miss Rubber World, the Royal Amusements, Romance of the Foot and Objectify; photos and promotional material from photo shoots, fashion shows, speaking engagements and vending; flyers and photographs of others involved in the New York and US Kink scene; typescript short memoirs by The Baroness on her clubs, other events, along with cuttings and historical material, such as catalogue and business cards, 1995-2017.
