SURVIVORS Survivors History Archive 1963-2019

Name of Creator: Andrew Roberts (c.1944) activist, academic, mental health advocate

Extent: 12 boxes

Administrative/Biographical History: Andrew Roberts was born in 1944, during the final air raids of World War II. He grew up in Essex, attending Billericay Secondary Modern School. He worked as a bookseller from the age of sixteen, but struggled with suicidal thoughts and poor mental health, which came to a head when he overdosed at nineteen. Andrew was admitted to Ingrebourne Centre in Essex for treatment, where he first saw the possibilities of patient-lead groups.

During the 1960s Andrew worked in a school science laboratory and began studying social science at Enfield College of Technology. At twenty-one, Andrew married Valerie Argent, another patient at Ingrebourne, and they would remain married until her passing in 1991. Together, they were part of the group that founded the Mental Patients' Union (MPU) in 1973 at Paddington Day Hospital. MPU was created for representation and in opposition to psychiatric oppression, becoming the second UK mental patient-lead union after the Scottish Union of Mental Patients (SUMP), which was founded in 1971. At the first meeting of MPU, with over a hundred patients and ex-patients present, they discussed forming a patients' union, and drafting a declaration of intent.

While active, MPU worked to inform patients and survivors of their rights, support them with housing, and help drive attention to the oppression that mental health patients experience. They also developed some key documents, such as their declaration of intent, a directory of the side effects of psychiatric drugs, and their 'fish pamphlet' – a booklet arguing the need for a mental patients' union. Andrew Roberts continued to be involved with a variety of groups and projects that followed the creation of MPU. Key among these is the Survivors History Group, founded in April 2005 to 'value and celebrate the contribution that mental health service users/survivors have made and are making to history'. The group launched their manifesto in 2006, setting out to create an archive that would highlight the diversity and creativity of survivors and make survivor history accessible to all.

As the secretary of the Survivors History Group, Andrew came to hold a large archive of materials related to service users/survivor groups he helped found or was a part of since the 1970s. Over time, other group members such as Joan Hughes (Martin) and Frank Bangay contributed their own collections to the archive, which together was donated to Bishopsgate Institute.
